Time for another I-GO Audio Emissions CD!

Building on last year's success, I-GO Car Sharing is now putting together its second annual compilation of Chicago's finest driving music. The first had been a fantastic success with considerable media attention. Last year's CD included artists like Andrew Bird, Koko Taylor, and Devil in a Woodpile. Mucca Pazza, also on the 2007 edition, says "As a 30 person band of musicians, our aesthetic has developed through the creative sharing of resources. Similarly, compilation albums have long been used as a creative way to share resources and talents. And sharing cars is a superb idea. We're happy to have been part of the project!"

Chicago bands are encouraged to submit their song to be voted onto the 2008 CD through I-GO's website www.igocars.org/igoaudioemissions. The submission site will be open from Tuesday May 27th until Thursday June 5th. Voting will begin on the same site from Friday June 6th until Friday June 14th. Winners will be announced on Monday, June 16th.

As 2007 winner Bille D testifies, "I-GO has done a wonderful job of bringing together talented artists from Chicago's independent music scene under a cause that facilitates collaboration, collectivism, and preservation."

I-GO Car Sharing is a Chicago-based non-profit committed to economical and environmentally sound transportation choices. The goals of the company are to reduce car ownership rates, lower family transportation costs, reduce urban congestion and improve air quality in all neighborhoods. I-GO offers customers access to energy efficient vehicles, often within a five-minute walk of their homes or work. I-GO members reserve a car online or by phone, they use and return the car, all for one hourly rate that covers gas and insurance. I-GO is convenient, affordable, reliable and great for the planet.
